Went to Butlins Bognor with family in 1964. Long queues to get in as switchover day. Fully catered but they were Jewish and only ate kosher so could not eat everything.

Announcements over tannoy all day announcing things going on. Lots of fun, lots of family time. Church service on Sunday for everyone - felt out of place as not christian. Dancing, fancy dress. Remembers song 'My boy lollipop' playing on jukebox over and over. Badges. It was easy and affordable for family. Best friend was Amy Winehouse's mother! Went later with own children - happy memories for boys but older daughter hated it.
